

Steve Daniels

Steve Daniels uses electronics and communication technologies to create kinetic sculptures, ubiquitous spaces and networked events. He is currently interested in the non-utilitarian possibilities of DIY social devices. Through his practice Steve juxtaposes disparate knowledge systems and experiences in an effort to reveal their underlying structures and assumptions. Steve's has recently presented his work at Mobile Nations, Together Elsewhere, Future Sonic, DorkBot (Toronto) and the GOSH! Summit (Banff Centre).

Steve was the recipient of the InterAccess emerging artist award in 2003 and was hired by Ryerson University shortly after graduating from OCAD in 2004. He is currently assistant professor and past Program Director of the New Media option in the School of Image Arts. Steve teaches courses in Physical Computing, Telepresence and Networked Objects. He holds an MSc from the University of Manitoba (Zoology) and is a graduate of the Integrated Media program at OCAD (Toronto).
